Civilian Defense Group Starts New First Aid Classes

Chairman Stresses Need For Additional Squad Volunteers

Action on Daly City's civilian defense front was this week centered on the first aid division as six new classes in the standard first aid course got under way with new volunteers.

However, R. L. Crane jr., first aid chairman of the Civilian Defense Council, still expressed a need for more first aid squad material. In totaling the students in all first aid classes there are 97 who are in the standard bracket, but not all of these will be used in squads since many of this group have already been assigned to other duties in the civilian defense organization. Thirty-one have completed advanced courses in Daly City, and there is a total of fifteen instructors.

Teaching the new first aid classes which were begun this week are: Mrs. Louise Robertson, Mrs. Eva Gray, Lionel Gray, Mrs. Estelle Petersen, Mrs. Violet Hauptli, and Mrs. Catherine Foreman. The new students in this week's classes were notified by postcard of the time and place to which they were assigned.

P. J. Kelly, demolition squad chairman in the Civilian Defense Council, declared that sixteen members of the demolition squad have signed up to take the first aid classes. Kelly, in reporting progress in the formation of the demolition squad, said that a meeting will be held tonight in the city hall at 8 p. m.

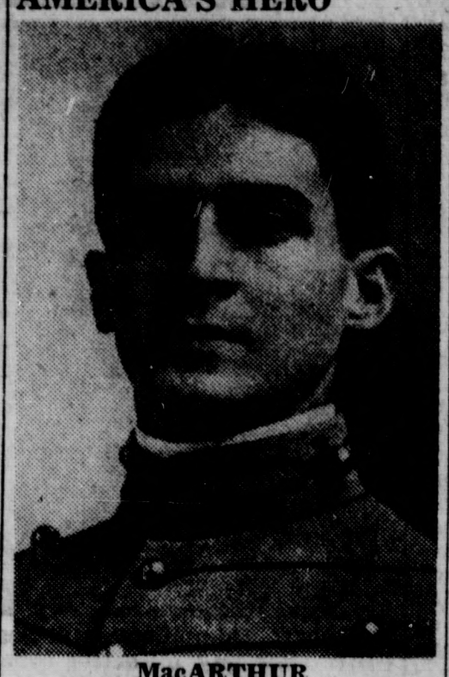
AMERICA'S HERO



MacARTHUR

Local Resident Knew MacArthur

Once Worked For General's Mother

"The first time I saw Douglas MacArthur was in the spring of 1903 when he visited his parents in San Francisco after graduating from West Point," recalled Mrs. Martin Johnson, 401 Westlake avenue, as she described the nation's most brilliant hero of the present war.

Mrs. Johnson, who, for the past 35 years has resided in Daly City with her husband, Martin Johnson, was engaged in household duties in the MacArthur home, employed by Douglas' mother. When Mrs. Johnson began her duties in the MacArthur home in the spring of 1903, General Arthur MacArthur, Douglas' father, an American military hero of another era, had headquarters at Fort Mason in San Francisco, and it was in the large, twelve room mansion in Fort Mason that Mrs. Johnson first saw the handsome, young Douglas when he returned home with his parents.

"I shall never forget the expression on the faces of his mother and father when the three of them arrived home," recalled Mrs. Johnson. "His mother was the happiest at that moment than I had ever seen her, and his father's countenance beamed with radiant pride."

However, Mrs. Johnson practically knew Douglas before she ever actually saw him, because of what she heard from his earliest and dearest admirer, his mother.

"Mrs. MacArthur loved to tell about her son, not in a boastful manner but surely in a prideful way," said Mrs. Johnson, "as he was the youngest in the family."

Council Adopts Resolution, Passes Two Motions

Both Mayor Fahey, Henry Sundermann Unable To Attend

With both Mayor John J. Fahey sr. and Councilman Henry Sundermann sr. confined to their homes because of illness, the city council, in their regular session, Monday, adopted one resolution, authorizing the city election to be held, April 14, and passed two minor motions.

Councilman Edmund Cavagnaro acted as chairman of the meeting in the absence of Mayor Fahey.

The resolution regarding the general election besides setting the date of the election, included a detailed description of the nine voting precincts and the names of election board personnel that will serve in each precinct.

By a motion of the council, a permit was granted to the Shell Oil company to make changes in the sidewalk using asphalt during the time they will rebuild their station at the corner of Vale and Mission street. The permit contained a special provision, on the advice of City Engineer Robert Klassen, that if and when the station has been rebuilt, the asphalt in the sidewalk area will be tentative, to be replaced by Portland Cement concrete.

The council passed a motion authorizing Arthur J. Bodien, water superintendent, to sell a second hand booster pump that is no longer used by the water department.

Upon reading a communication from the State Board of Equalization, the council held a discussion of the problem of maintaining peace in local night spots. The letter from the state body informed the council of the jurisdiction of the municipality in dealing with bars and dance halls in the city limits. City Attorney Rudolph A. Rapsey advised the council that the setting up of certain regulations for the night spots when permits are issued, is the answer to the problem.

Hold Drills For D. C. Firemen

Final drills to acquaint the Daly City Fire department with the new equipment on the fire trucks which were acquired recently were held, Sunday, by Chief Engineer Stockholm of the manufacturers, according to Fire Chief A. P. Chesney.

A two and one-half hour field drill was held with much work in drafting with the new booster pump, followed by a blackboard lecture by Stockholm in the Co. No. 1 firehouse. In his lecture, Stockholm showed locations of all the valves in the equipment. Operation of the two-phased gasoline engine, which generates power for the searchlights, was explained.

After the drill, Stockholm reported to Chief Chesney that the firemen were satisfactorily able to operate all the equipment.

Johnny Compagno Must Serve Sixty Days In County Jail, Judge Mullin Decides

Sentenced to serve sixty days in the county jail, Johnny Compagno, chief defendant in the Compagno-Hogan trial in Daly City, last Thursday, was found guilty of two charges by Judge Hugh F. Mullin, acting judge.

The two charges against Compagno which led to his arrest and subsequent sentence were battery and disturbing the peace in a Mission circle street brawl, February 1. Two other charges against him were dismissed, those of rioting and resisting an officer, as was a city complaint of disturbing the peace.

Testifying before Burress Karmel, deputy district attorney, were Officers Ed Heim and Joe Kusber of the Daly City Police department, and Corporal Francis Stasson, United States Army officer.

The trial for Tony Compagno, a brother of Johnny Compagno and a second defendant, was continued until March 19 at 2 p. m. when it was learned that he had applied for enlistment into the United States Marine Corps.

After setting the date for the continuance, Judge Mullin instructed Joseph Haughey, Compagno defense attorney, to procure a statement verifying Tony's application for service in the Marine Corps and produce it in the future trial.

Charges against the other two defendants, Teresa Compagno, sister of the Compagno brothers, and Thomas Hogan, 30 Niantic street, were dismissed.

Jefferson School District Receives Sugar Rationing Program Instructions

R. L. Crane jr., superintendent of the Jefferson school district, this week, received instructions at a meeting of the San Mateo County Board of Education to prepare for the registration of sugar-rationing books in this community.

The registration will be made through the public schools, and every man, woman, and child in Daly City will be issued a registration book following the signup, according to Crane. The registration will take place over a four-day period during the last week in March or the first week in April. The County Board of Education members were advised of the signup by the Office of Price Administration.

All facilities for registration in the Jefferson school district's elementary schools will be used, Crane stated.

Although every person, whether adult or child, must register, Crane advised that one adult will be permitted to register for each member of the family.

A definite measure to prevent hoarding of sugar by one family, so that free distribution can be made, was included in the rules of the sugar registration. No ration book will be given to anyone who possesses sugar above a normal inventory, and all registrants will be required to inform the rationing board, through the registration forms, of the amount of sugar that they have on hand. The normal inventory figure has not yet been determined, but should represent the average needs of the family.

P. G. & E. Official Sees No Shortage Of Power

There is no shortage of electric power in central and northern California and none is anticipated, according to a statement made today by P. M. Downing, vice-president and general manager of Pacific Gas and Electric company.

The constantly increasing demand of the war industries for electric service is being met and at the same time the usual requirements of the communities in the 89,000 square miles of territory served by the company are being supplied without curtailment.

"Following a long established custom," said Mr. Downing, "The Pacific Gas and Electric company is building additional generating facilities for future demand.

"In 1938 we launched an extensive development program, intended to provide adequate electric power for current needs and still maintain an ample reserve capacity for emergency."

TO KEEP AMERICA FIT

That America needs the wholesome tonic of recreational travel as one of the greatest sustaining forces of national morale, is the consensus of opinion in high government circles. Harold Ickes recently stated that "civilian travel for purposes of relaxation as health and morale measures should be continued." Previously, Paul V. McNutt, co-ordinator of health, urged travel "to keep Americans fit for patriotic duty."

Crane, Quirmbach Study At Stanford

class under the supervision of the Chemical Warfare Service of the Army. The course at Stanford was introduced for civilian defense men of the Ninth Army Corps. Fifty-one civilians from California, Oregon, Washington, Utah, Nevada, and Arizona attended the class.

San Mateo county was well covered at the classes with six representatives including Crane and Quirmbach. Since the purpose of the course is to train instructors so that they, in turn, can train the civilian defense workers, it is expected that the tasks of Crane and Quirmbach will cover a wider scope than Daly City alone. County officials said that other cities in the county not represented at Stanford will probably be instructed in the classes to be given by the six authorized instructors.

The classes at Stanford university included instruction in aerial attacks, civilian defense organization, gas defenses, incendiary defense, plant protection, local training, citizen defense, and general protection.

Instructors in the course, aside from Lieutenant-Colonel Johnston, were Major Bilicke, Major Hansel, Captain Rogers, and First Lieutenants Mattingley and Burn, and 25 non-commissioned officers, all of whom are from the Chemical Warfare school for the Army at Edgewood arsenal, Maryland.

Both Daly City men had high praise for the class, declaring it a comprehensive, complete course which covers every possible aspect of civilian defense. Crane is head of the first aid division of the local defense council, while Quirmbach is local representative to the county council. Named from the local council to attend the school, both Crane and Quirmbach are ex-service men.

KNEW MacARTHUR

Mrs. Johnson's recollections of hearing about Douglas and his achievements at West Point came after his mother would receive letters from him.

"General MacArthur, Douglas' father, had that suppressed pride about his son that is so typical in every father, but it was very obvious how proud he was of his son."

Douglas was at home after his return from West Point until the first of September when he was assigned to the Phillipines, and it was during this interval that Mrs. Johnson actually knew General Douglas MacArthur.

"Many young friends of Douglas' came to the home to visit during that vacation in the summer of 1903," related Mrs. Johnson. "Some of the friends were former classmates and one was a West Point classmate.

"But they weren't all young men that came to visit him," Mrs. Johnson added, "because I can remember a number of young ladies who thought very well of him. You see, he was a very handsome young man."

In the latter part of November of that year, Douglas' parents made a trip to the Phillipines to visit their son, according to Mrs. Johnson. She heard more news of the young officer when his parents returned to their home in San Francisco. In the fall of 1904, Mrs. Johnson resigned her duties in the MacArthur household to become the wife of Martin Johnson. Shortly before her departure from the household Mrs. MacArthur presented Mrs. Johnson with the picture of Douglas taken at the time of his graduation.

In possession of a batch of clippings from recent newspapers which tell of the brilliant military exploits of General MacArthur, Mrs. Johnson has another intimate military interest, that of her son, Martin Johnson jr. Young Johnson is training for service with the Army Air Corps at Lowery field in Denver, Colorado.

Reading & Writing

By Edwin Seaver and Robin McKown

Christopher Columbus came close to discovering the Pacific Ocean as well as the New World, according to Professor Samuel Eliot Morison of Harvard, who has written a book that will probably remain the best story of the great discoverer and his voyage in existence. It's called "Admiral of the Ocean Sea" and will get off to a flying start when the Book-of-the-Month Club begins to send it out to its members as a March selection.

On his fourth journey to the new world, Dr. Morison points out, Columbus anchored on Christmas eve 1502 at what is now the Atlantic entrance to the Panama Canal. The Indians tried to explain to him that this was an isthmus between two seas, but Columbus was too weary after the long voyage to undertake the additional overland trip that would have brought him to the Pacific. When he failed to find a strait, he continued on down the coast in search of gold.

Dr. Morison, who is one of our most eminent historians, did a unique research job for his great book. He actually sailed over the course of Columbus' four voyages himself. At various times he used a 147-foot barkentine, a 47-foot ketch, a cutter loaned him by the Haitian government, and a patrol boat of the Cuban navy.

Checking with Columbus' own journal, Dr. Morison actually located the exact site of the discoverer's first settlement, Navidad, on the coast of Santo Domingo—a place never previously identified. He verified many of Columbus's observations which "armchair Admirals" had pooh-poohed.

The result of the four fact-finding expeditions undertaken by Dr. Morison and his Harvard research staff is "Admiral of the Ocean Sea." As Christopher Morley states in the current issue of the Book-of-the-Month Club News, here is a story which was written "not as the Macaulays and Prescotts did it, describing things as they should have been. This, as near as is humanly possible, is the story of Columbus written by one of his own companions and verified at the binnacle itself . . . Morison has done for Columbus what Boswell did for Dr. Johnson."

Do your friends try to upset you by asserting that pretty soon the insect world is going to supplant the human race? If you have nightmares about that you'll be relieved to read Will Cuppy's latest satire, "How to Become Extinct." Mr. Cuppy says he always used to worry too, until he learned that insects have been on this planet some three hundred million years, while human beings have been here only a million years—or maybe three million at the most. And though that makes insects by far the oldest, he says it takes more than old age to win nowadays. And don't be frightened either if someone tells you that nine-tenths of all the creatures on earth today are insects. Just be glad, says Mr. Cuppy, that nine-tenths of all the creatures on the earth aren't Bengal tigers! In fact, he refuses to be impressed by a lot that is said by expert anthropologists. For instance, he heard that the King Cobra was said to possess intelligence, because he could recognize his keeper at the Zoo and come out of his corner for food. Mr. Cuppy says that is no proof of intelligence; he would know enough to do that himself.

Nine Fledgling Pilots Solo in Formation

Every day this type of formation flying is enacted over the West Coast by primary students of the West Coast Air Corps Training Center. In their Ryan primary trainers, nine of Uncle Sam's most recent Aviation Cadets pilot their planes in right echelon. In a few weeks the cadets will be on their way to faster and larger ships. In a few months they will receive their wings as second lieutenants and nine more young Americans will have added their strength and skill to the defense of Democracy. Married men may now apply for Aviation Cadet training.

worked 968 hours during the month at local workshop headquarters. Distribution of the garments is made from Red Cross headquarters of San Mateo county. The majority of the garments will be distributed to service men and evacuees from Pacific war zones.

Aiding the county chapter in supplying evacuees with clothing, the Daly City workshop produced convalescent robes, children's dresses, skirts, knit caps, and boys' shirts.

A large stock of socks and sweaters was finished during February by the local workshop for immediate distribution to soldiers, sailors, and marines.

Despite the fine report of the workshop progress in February, Mrs. Fellows said that there is still a need for sewing machines for the work. Declaring that much time could be saved and Daly City's production could be increased even more if additional machines were available, Mrs. Fellows asked that anyone who wished to loan a machine to the Red Cross call at her home, DElaware 4123, and the machine would be called for by an authorized Red Cross worker.

Biggs Drills Baseball Aspirants

Threatened by cancellation of spring sports because of the effect of close rationing in transportation, Jefferson high school's baseball aspirants are drilling daily under Coach "B. I." Biggs, highly respected baseball mentor in P. A. L. circles.

With thirteen men campaigning for positions on the varsity nine, the Jeffs present fair prospects for the spring race for the P. A. L. baseball crown, although the team is not as strong as other years.

Coach Biggs has a pitching staff of four who show considerable promise. Jim McKinnon, Bob Nava, and Bill Freeman, all southpaw hurlers, and Bob Dyer, big relief pitcher are expected to handle the pitching duties for Coach Biggs.

McKinnon with two years of experience, will also play first base when he is not seeing service on the mound. Nava is expected to develop into an effective chucker when he acquires more control.

Alternating outfielding duties with his pitching, Freeman was

Buick Launches Conservation Drive

The whole service resources of the Buick division of General Motors corporation have been placed behind a car conservation program which has been launched by this manufacturer through more than 3,000 Buick dealers throughout the country, according to an announcement today by W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager.

Current developments in the automotive situation bring to the forefront the problem of maintaining existing cars in best operating condition and getting the utmost in transportation from the equipment now in the hands of the public, Hufstader said.

While this problem is complicated by the very war conditions that brought it about, he declared it is the object of the Buick factory and dealer organization to deal with it in relation to the country's war time needs, rendering a public service that can be the means of considerably prolonging the useful life of the millions of cars already in the service of owners.

The executive said that the Buick effort is being made through a "Conserve Your Car" program conducted cooperatively between Buick dealers and car owners who are normally their customers. The local Buick dealer is Belli Motor company.

For St. Patrick's Day

By Frances Lee Barton

THERE are cakes for all occasions;
Good old standbys — innovations;

Christmas fruit cakes, lunch-box cookies;
Upside - down cakes — shipped to rookies.
Recipes you've filed for ages
Torn from various types of pages.
But among them is no finer
Than this Shamrock cake head liner.

Shamrock Cup Cakes

2¼ cups sifted cake flour; 2¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; ½ cup butter or other shortening; 1 cup sugar; 2 eggs, well beaten; ¾ cup milk; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in greased cup cake pans in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Decorate with boiled frosting putting candied shamrocks on top of each cup cake. Makes 2½ dozen medium or 1½ dozen large cup cakes.

At The District Grammar Schools

At Crocker

Two changes in the students in Room 3 were made when Billy Richardson, formerly of San Francisco, enrolled in Crocker, while Shirley Peterson transferred to a Colorado school.

Pioneer Life, a study unit in Room 2, was approached through the study of a film called "Early Americans."

Edward Milano reported to the class in Room 6 on a vacation he enjoyed with his parents. He visited Yosemite lodge and Badger pass, spending much of the time enjoying winter sports.

Clarence Lack, student in Room 4, spent a week's vacation with relatives in Oakdale.

With the proclamation of March 7 to 14 as California Conservation Week, much emphasis was stressed in all Crocker classrooms in the practice of thrift in food, clothing, and other commodities.

At Woodrow

In connection with regular work in social science, an aviation unit will soon be introduced to Room 9 students. Billy Bernzott is chairman of the committee which is working on this unit.

The students of Room 8 welcomed Frank Cox and Alfred Herbstritt to their room. Alfreida Herbstritt joined the pupils of Room 4.

In connection with the unit, "Natural Resources and How to Conserve Them," the following reports were given on men who were the leaders in conservation in America: Dr. Van Hise, Kenneth Martin; Gifford Pinchot, Glenn Kollmann; Langford, Marilyn Fulton; John Muir, Mary Collinge; Dr. McFarland, Lois Clarke; Stephen Mather, Glenn Wilkes. Aside from these reports, Eugene Moody described the activities of the CCC camps, and Tulio Picchi related the work of forest rangers.

Children Crave Chocolate Cake

By Frances Lee Barton

ALTHOUGH chocolate cake is popular with all ages, it stands particularly high on the children's dessert list. In fact, I believe "ice cream" may be its only rival. So why not purchase some vanilla ice cream and combine these two favorites. Then, there will be no doubt whatsoever that Chocolate Fleck Cake a la Mode will rate number one on your child's "dessert parade" — and will very likely rate the same on your own list.

Chocolate Fleck Cake

2 squares unsweetened chocolate, grated; 2¼ cups sifted cake flour; 2¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; ½ cup butter or other shortening; 1⅓ cups sugar; 3 egg whites, unbeaten; ¾ cup milk; 1½ teaspoons vanilla.

Grate chocolate on coarse grater. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg whites, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Fold in grated chocolate. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375° F.) 30 minutes, or until done.

Many lovely prizes have been procured for the affair, according to the ladies. Mrs. Martha Sanders has been elected as chairlady. Other ladies will assist with the arrangements.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the afternoon.

The new council's progress has been rapid, according to officers of the group. The new members have announced a degree team is underway. Andrew Wohlfahrd is acting as captain.

DEFENSE STAMPS

Students at Jefferson are going out in a big way to help beat the "Japs." Defense Savings stamps went on sale at the school store, Monday. The students now are able to purchase their stamps every day.

Mrs. Effie Andersen, popular student advisor, announces that some sort of a competitive campaign will be held between the classes to see who can purchase the most stamps.

C. S. F.

Tentative plans for a freshman reception are being discussed by members of the C. S. F. The reception would be held to help acquaint freshmen and new students with the school.

Miss Martha Springer, faculty advisor, with a group of students will attend a C. S. F. conference at Campbell high school, Saturday, March 21. The affair will be from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

STUDENT BODY

Work on the gigantic student assembly was near completion, today, according to an announcement by Roy DeVincenzi, student body president. The program will be held Wednesday, March 18, for the benefit of the student body. The affair will also be presented for Jefferson High School P. T. A. members.

Participants in the assembly include: Esther Hanel, Mary Sue Denton, Rita Lozano, Mary Rossoff, Carmel Robin, George Grimes and DeVincenzi.

Members of the student committee announced that the last day to purchase student body cards is tomorrow.

WATER PAGEANT

Remember the water pageant last year? Of course you do; everyone remembers what a hit it was! Several demand performances were held and still hundreds of people were turned away.

Well—there's to be another, only bigger and better than ever. This year's production will be held sometime in May. Seats will be "reserve only" and no standing room will be available.

The swimmers began their practice, Tuesday, and will continue practicing for the event, every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon.

The cast will include over a hundred swimmers and lovely models. Costumes, staging and lighting are expected to be outstanding.

ASSEMBLY

In connection with the selling of Defense Savings stamps in the school store, Clive M. Saiz, history instructor, brought before Tuesday's assembly a representative from the United States Treasury department. He discussed the advantages of Defense Stamps and bonds and how the purchase of them would help us to win this war.

Sports

Captains elected for the various basketball groups include: Virginia Adams, group 1a; Emelia Bertini, group 1b; Jennie Morini, group 2a; Virginia Jeffries, group 2b; Sophie Sikeotis, group 3a; Helen Oxley, group 3b; Ruth Larson, group 4a; S. Green, group 4b. Manager of the sport is Verne Flatt.

The games have been organized so the lower classmen play each other and the upper classmen compete against each other. The last game of the season will be between the highest lower class team and the highest upper class team. Winner of this match will be the season champion.

SPORTS DAY

Several sports days have been scheduled for the girls of G. P. A. L. to be held in the near future.

The girls have been invited to the University of California sports day, March 28.

Music

INDIANS OF RHYTHM

Jefferson's student body enjoyed a musical program, presented by Howard Miguel and his Indians of Rhythm, last Wednesday afternoon. The entire cast was assembled on the stage. Several vocal selections were presented. Outstanding in their performance were Pat Marraco, Lillian Altman and Lavern Ladesman.

The Indians of Rhythm have been more than busy this last week. The group played for an afternoon dance, Friday, in the new building. The affair was held in honor of the freshmen.

An assembly was held yesterday afternoon by members of the band.

Next big affair on the group's activity calendar is the Jinx dance, tomorrow evening. The entire band will be present to make the dance a musical success.

ORCHESTRA

The program scheduled for last week by the school orchestra has been postponed until a later date. The group was to have presented a program for the Bayshore P. T. A.

High speed increases wear on tires, says the Department of Motor Vehicles. S-o-o -- hurry today and hoof tomorrow.

The statistics indicate a lot of people have peddled their cars and are now pedaling their bicycles.

Take time to live—and live within the law, advises the California Highway Patrol.

One nice thing about the tire rationing program is that it's producing a few rational drivers.

Famous Last Words—"Shucks that's all foolishness about not being able to do 60 on recapped tires!"
